

KOL AMI KABBALAT SHABBAT SERVICE

Feb. 12, 2021

(our virtual siddur is linked here)

1. Welcome
2. "Friends" poem
3. Hinei Mah Tov, p. 535
4. Candle lighting: bottom of p. 2, then p. 5
5. Shalom Aleichem, p. 13
6. Meditation below line, R' Rami Shapiro, p. 12
7. "Friendship" poem
8. L'Cha Dodi, p. 41
9. Psalm 93 (responsively), p. 52
10. Hatzi Kaddish, p. 55
11. Barchu, p. 57
12. "As we bless the source of life..." p. 246
13. Asher Bidvaro, p. 58, then blessing, p. 59
14. Ahavat Olam, p. 62
15. The breath of love
16. Shema & V'ahavta, p. 65
17. Biblical selection II, p. 68
18. Mi Chamocha, p. 79
19. Haskiveinu, p. 80, then blessing, p. 81
20. V'Shamru, p. 85
21. Introduction to the Amidah, p. 88
22. Silent Amidah, pp. 90-107
23. Oseh Shalom, p. 107
24. Mi Shebeirach, p. 686
25. Poem about Torah by R' Rami Shapiro, p. 93
26. Overview of Parasha Mishpatim
27. Aleynu, pp. 121, 123, 125
28. R' Rami Shapiro's translation of Aleynu, p. 126
29. Adon Olam, p. 133
30. Mourner's Kaddish, p. 131
31. Announcements
32. Kiddush, p. 119

FRIENDS

Flow in and out of your life
at different times and places
as birthdays pass.
Age brings different sights and sounds;
opens new doors or windows;
closes others,
so friends' connections click or unravel;
bring smiles and laughter, joy and pleasure
or lingering memories, regrets, loss.
But how their part of life's story fits in
makes a difference,
leaves a mark in new encounters,
new turns or twists of the road,
as the life journey continues,
right through to the end.

Susan Freiband 2/2021

FRIENDSHIP

How to stretch threads that connect together;
to form a person's life.
How to make space in the weave
for threads of friendship,
that bring insight, joy,
support from this connection and design
through years of living's ups and downs.
Reinforced over and over again
by new strands weaving in and out
at different times and places.
Each heightens awareness, brings presence;
enriches and transforms life
so that it truly becomes a blessing.

Susan Freiband 2/2021